Broadband

Our network, supporting your business

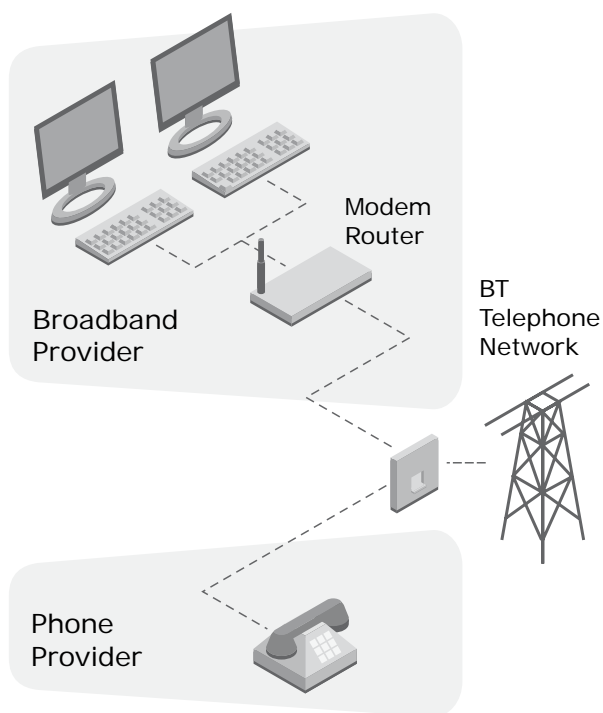

The Bulldog Network is completely different. Bulldog bypasses the BT network using a new communication technology process known as local loop unbundling.

The local loop is the copper phone line that connects your premises with your local BT exchange. We take over the management of the local loop (your phone lines) from BT and connect you directly to our advanced systems in your local exchange.

This process gives you access to the Bulldog broadband and phone network enabling you to receive high speed internet access and great value calling rates.
